Once upon a time there was a planet, which was famous for an infinite diversity of humans, animals, flowers, trees, oceans, rivers and mountains. It was full of colors, shapes, smells, sounds and wonders. This was the magical little planet called TREASURE.

The universe, creator of the little planet, was shocked that the humans who were created to take care of TREASURE, did exactly the opposite: they covered the whole planet with trash. One day the little planet could neither see nor breathe. The sea turned brown, the air grey and the plants pale. And as the birds stopped singing and the bees stopped flying, the people got sick.

*Finally, they realized, that the huge amount of trash was the reason for all this. The humans were sad and wanted to have the wonderful beauty of TREASURE back.
Just how could they save their planet and find all the treasures again?*

*Children who had to live within all the trash, made the miracle possible: they created instruments out of trash, formed an orchestra and played symphonies. Their idea inspired the whole world!
People became alchemists and shared the ideas of upcycling all over the planet.*

*Suddenly, the planet TREASURE recovered and its wonderful beauty was visible again.
They realized that their planet is a living creature and there could be no doubt that it deserved the same rights as them, the humans. The rights were created to protect their beloved planet Treasure forever. From this day on they took care of it very well and didn't hurt their planet ever again.*

*All is well that ends well: the universe was pleased that the humans finally understood and did what they were meant to do.
And the humans were happy that the little planet TREASURE was once again transformed into a paradise, with all its wonders and miracles for everything and everyone!*

A photograph of a white grand piano repurposed as a water fountain. The piano is positioned outdoors on a bed of brown mulch. Water is flowing out of the keyboard area, creating a small waterfall effect. The piano is overflowing with a large arrangement of bright pink flowers with green foliage. In the background, there is a brick wall and a wooden fence. The text "Old Piano" is written in a cursive font in the upper left corner.

KITCHEN OWLS out of lids!

The image shows a vertical garden installation. Numerous clear plastic bottles of various sizes are cut in half and suspended from a light-colored, textured wall. Each bottle is filled with soil and contains a small green plant, likely a herb or a small vegetable seedling. The bottles are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some hanging higher than others. The plants are in various stages of growth, with some showing small leaves and others just starting to sprout. The overall effect is a creative and eco-friendly way to grow food or decorative plants in a vertical space.

A child with curly hair, wearing a striped shirt, is reaching up with their right hand towards a large, circular wall decoration. The decoration is made of many toilet paper rolls arranged in a radial pattern, resembling a sunburst or a large flower. The background is a light blue wall with a stylized white silhouette of a tree on the left side. The overall scene is brightly lit, suggesting an indoor setting.
